

Discipline: Psychology

Annotation

Labor intensity: 2 ECTS, 72 academic hours.

Final control form: test.

Objectives of mastering the discipline: give an overview of the main directions, psychological systems and scientific research, concerning general psychological knowledge; to develop a mindset for creating a solid scientific and methodological base, which lies in the basis of psychological and pedagogical activity; give an overview of the main trends in the field of world psychology and compare scientific approaches in various psychological schools; to acquaint with modern trends in domestic and foreign psychology create a basis for the development of critical thinking and adequate analysis of the main psychological theories; to form scientific and theoretical ideas about mental processes, properties and human conditions.

The tasks of mastering the course content are to help students get psychological knowledge that can later be used by them in mastering related disciplines, various pedagogical and psychological techniques, update scientific, theoretical and experimental positions (approaches) to the study of the human psyche.